

Your home was built to be smart.

Move into the future with Fernsby and Mattamy Homes®

Welcome to a community where smart is the new standard.

We believe in a future where every home is smart from the start. Not just because we love being able to turn off the lights without getting out of bed, but because owning a smart home means you spend less time managing and more time living. Our experts have worked with Mattamy Homes® to bring the latest in smart tech to the best spots in your home for a fully integrated system that works seamlessly across your whole home. And it also makes sustainability standard thanks to advanced energy regulation—something that's both better for the environment and a boost for your budget.¹
